

California Proposition 65

Proposition 65, officially the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, is a law that requires warnings be provided to California consumers when they might be exposed to chemicals identified by California as causing cancer or reproductive toxicity. The warnings are intended to help California consumers make informed decisions about their exposures to these chemicals from the products they use. The California Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (OEHHA) administers the Proposition 65 program and publishes the listed chemicals, which includes more than 850 chemicals. In August 2016, OEHHA adopted new regulations, effective on August 30, 2018, which change the information required in Proposition 65 warnings.

We are providing the following warning for products sold on this page:

WARNING: This product contains chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer and birth defects or other reproductive harm. Please see below the specific product chemical details:

Marine Exhaust Lagging

Marine Exhaust lagging utilizes stainless steel mesh as a component of the finished product. Stainless Steel mesh contains varying levels of Chromium, Nickel, and Cobalt which are known to the State of California to cause cancer and birth defects or other reproductive harm. Wear gloves or wash hands after handling marine exhaust lagging products.

Pressure Sensitive Adhesive Tapes

Certain pressure sensitive adhesive tapes contain Antimony oxide which is known to the State of California to cause cancer. Wear gloves or wash hands after handling pressure sensitive adhesive tapes.

Ceramic Blanket

Ceramic blanket is composed of ceramic fibers (airborne particles for respirable size); which are known to the State of California to cause cancer. Wear gloves and appropriate respirators while handling ceramic products and ensure proper ventilation.
