Description

WCI high temperature, removable insulation is primarily designed to be use with diesel engine exhaust systems but can be applied over a variety of hot pipe applications. Removable lagging is designed for hot face applications up to 1000°F, keeping in mind negative/ minimal contact of the cloth with hot surfaces (cloth is rated to 450°F). Lagging is available to fit Straight pipe sections, 90° Elbows, 45° Elbows, Flanges, Flex Systems, Mufflers, Valves, Turbos, K-19 Turbo Elbows, Exhaust Manifold Pipes, and numerous other applications. WCI stocks common sized pieces and can also make to order based on your system or needs.

Manufacturers Notes

- Exposure of silicone cloth to hot surfaces will cause burn-out of silicone coating and weakening of the fiberglass cloth.
- Some smoke is to be expected during initial heat cycle of engines. This is typically due to oils on the SS mesh and setting of fiberglass.
- Silicone coating is designed to shed water, oils, fluids, but is not considered waterproof/ outdoor designated. Installation outside, especially in wet weather climates, will result in reduced life expectancy.
